New Capital Instrument Guidelines for Urban Cooperative Banks in Development

The Reserve Bank of India (RBI) is developing norms for new capital-raising instruments for Urban Cooperative Banks (UCBs), such as the issuance of shares at a premium.

These norms will provide UCBs with more flexibility to raise resources and support sector growth.

Urban Cooperative Banks (UCBs) are primary cooperative banks that are located in urban and semi-urban areas.

They are primarily concerned with serving their own communities and providing financial services to customers who fall into the lower middle class and have few resources

The initial guidelines on the issue and regulation of share capital and securities for UCBs were released in 2022, following the Banking Regulation (Amendment) Act, 2020.

However, these guidelines did not include the newly-enabled capital-related provisions.

The RBI aims to gather input to ensure the capital-raising norms are effective in providing stability and supporting the growth of UCBs.

The S. Vishwanathan Panel (2021) provided guiding principles on capital-related provisions for UCBs.
