Reserve Bank of India Extends Deadline for Banks and ATM Operators

The Reserve Bank of India (RBI) has given banks and ATM operators some wiggle room for implementing the cassette swap mechanism for cash replenishment in ATMs.

The banking regulator has exempted cash recycler machines (CRMs) from the cassette swap requirement for cash replenishment.

Additionally, this exemption applies when banks don't engage outsourced agencies for cash replenishment in ATMs.

In 2018, the RBI had asked banks to implement the cassette swap mechanism in a phased manner, covering at least one-third of ATMs operated by them each year so that all ATMs would achieve cassette swap by March 31, 2021.

However, the implementation has been tardy.

Now, the RBI has asked banks to expeditiously implement the roadmap for cassette swap implementation by March 31, 2025.

Under the cassette swap mechanism, lockable cassettes filled with banknotes are used in ATMs that are swapped at the time of cash replenishment.

This move to exclude the cash recyclers from the cassette swap process is, in fact, a step back and needs further discussion and debate.

Each ATM typically requires three sets of five cassettes, with the cost of each cassette ranging from ₹15,000 to ₹20,000.
