SEBI Provides Flexibility, Eases 'Trading Plan' Regulations for Insiders

The Securities and Exchange Board of India (Sebi) has made it significantly easier for insiders to trade in shares of their companies by amending the Prohibition of Insider Trading (PIT) regulations.

The amended norms provide flexibility in the 'trading plan' of a company's key managerial personnel and will come into effect after 3 months.

Insiders are individuals within a company who have access to Unpublished Price-Sensitive Information (UPSI), typically senior management and officials.

The time required for insiders to inform the board about their buy/sell decision has been reduced from six months to four months.

Insiders can now set price limits within a range of 20% (both upper and lower) from the closing price on the day they submit the trading plan.

Insiders have the flexibility to cancel the trading plan.

They can choose not to execute trades if the execution price falls outside the predetermined limits set in the trading plan.

According to SEBI guidelines, these insiders have to get approval for the 'trading plan', which specifies the share price, amount and transaction date in advance so as to not coincide with any news leaks.
